WELCOME!

Welcome to the MacKenzie Center's education program! Whether this is your first trip to the Center or one of many, the experience is rewarding. This booklet represents the accumulation of ideas, suggestions, and policies that will help you plan a successful trip. Please review this guide and its contents and contact us if you have any questions.

The MacKenzie Center's goal is to provide high quality outdoor skills and environmental education to:

- Teach individuals environmental literacy in order to protect and enhance our natural resources; our air, land and water, fish and forests, and the ecosystems that sustain all life.
- Help individuals gain the skills needed to enjoy a full range of outdoor opportunities.
- Provide diverse groups of individual's access to outdoor opportunities for work and leisure.
- Enhance these opportunities for future generations.

HISTORY

The property is 619 acres with 280+ acres we know as the MacKenzie Center was named in memory of Harley MacKenzie (pictured to the left) in 1971 and has a long history, beginning in the 1930's. Harley MacKenzie, the property's name sake, purchased this land under authority as Director of the Wisconsin Conservation Department, known today as the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. At that time in history the full property was all part of the State Fur and Game Farm, which raised fur-bearing animals for their pelts and game birds, including the Ring-Neck Pheasant, for hunting.

In the 1960's as the conservation movement grew, the property developed two functions. One half remained the State Game Farm focused on raising Ring-Neck Pheasants and the other half was dedicated to conservation education. At that time, exhibits, trails and education programs were created.

The wildlife habitat area came to be as a result of individuals bringing sick and injured animals to the game farm in the 1930's and 1940's; and were once housed along the road between the Administration building and the Conservation Museum and was moved to the current location in the late 1980's. Once in captivity the animals and birds became an attraction for visitors. Wildlife should be left in the wild. The animals at the MacKenzie Center are non-releasable and will not survive on their own. They provide an opportunity to teach visitors about native Wisconsin animals and birds. The wildlife area continues to provide a home for animals that are injured, orphaned, surrendered or born in captivity and have little chance of survival if released into the wild; MacKenzie is their home for life.

From 2006 to 2013 the MacKenzie Center was jointly managed as a partnership between the DNR, Wisconsin Wildlife Federation and Friends of MacKenzie. The DNR is grateful to have worked with the Wildlife Federation and Friends to maintain and operate the center over that time span.

Beginning in 2014, the DNR assumed full operation of the MacKenzie Center and continues to offer environmental education programs while developing MacKenzie as an innovative outdoor skills center. The Wisconsin DNR owns and operates the MacKenzie Center and is responsible for the programs, facility upkeep and maintenance. A variety of partnerships have been established of internal DNR groups, community members, individuals, and organizations that help make the MacKenzie Center a success.

Most significantly the Friends of the MacKenzie Center, a local group of volunteers, provide funding support, leadership and volunteers for a variety of maintenance, educational and community programs.

No students are allowed to sleep in the group lounge in the lodge, and state regulations prohibit anyone from sleeping elsewhere in the lodge building.

PROGRAM PLANNING

MacKenzie's goal is to provide program offerings in environmental education and outdoor skills. We encourage you to use your trip the Center to introduce or reinforce concepts that are taught in the classroom.

Good planning is essential will be the biggest contributing factor to the success of your trip. Several weeks prior to your scheduled program at MacKenzie, a planning session will be held with the Center's education team. We suggest that all group leaders visit us on-site for your planning session. During this time we will help you develop your schedule and lessons, give tours as needed and make you comfortable with your upcoming trip.

Group leaders should discuss their ideas prior to visiting the MacKenzie Center staff for their on-site planning session. Consideration should be given to group leader's area of expertise, the Center's class offerings, and group's goals and objectives. In addition, consideration of the number of group participants and chaperones will be important information to share with Center staff when developing your trip's schedule.

A MacKenzie educator will be available to lead classes for your group during your scheduled visit based on where our expertise is needed the most.

Medical and emergency procedures

Security: The safety and security of groups is very important. Several policies and practices are in place to help insure your personal safety while staying overnight at the Center.

The lodge and dormitories are reserved for only ONE group at a time, even though a group may be small in relation to our capacity of 82 people. On occasion, other visitors may enter the lodge building to attend a planning session with our education team or to meet with someone in the office. All visitors are required to check in at the office upon arrival. Please contact a MacKenzie Center staff member about any person(s) that you do not recognize. If you ever feel uncomfortable about a situation or witness a crime in progress, please call 9-911 immediately and tell them where/what building you are located near on the MacKenzie Center property. After 911, please call the MacKenzie Center staff member on call (number listed in group lounge for reference) and then continue to follow emergency procedures.

All MacKenzie staff, including volunteers, are required to wear a photo ID whenever students are present. Please feel free to ask the name of anyone that you do not recognize. Never put yourself in danger by approaching a vehicle or person that makes you uncomfortable.

Inclement Weather: Since our Center is primarily an outdoor classroom, we will, even in undesirable weather, attempt to carry on outside programming as scheduled unless:

1. The group leader decides otherwise
2. The wind chill factor is dangerously low
3. There is lightning
4. Participants have been outside too long and are uncomfortable

Groups are responsible for having “rainy day” activities to use in the event of adverse weather.

MacKenzie staff will only have lessons prepared to replace those lessons MacKenzie is scheduled to lead.

Emergency and Disaster Plan: All buildings are equipped with fire extinguishers, fire alarms and properly marked exits. Formal emergency plans are posted in each building; please review and follow in case of an emergency. Please note that the fire alarm rings in the dorms and lodge ONLY and does not alarm or notify the local fire department. YOU MUST phone the fire department.

1. FIRE:

- a. Visitors should acquaint themselves with the location of the fire extinguishers, fire alarms, exits and exit lights. Tampering with any of this equipment is forbidden and subject to a fine.

- d. The adults and group leaders should be the last ones out of the building and should count all students and adult participants when gathered at the assembly point. The assembly point for people in the lodge and the dorms is the PARKING LOT.
- e. In the event of an outdoor fire near the buildings, assemble in the PARKING LOT.

2. TORNADO:

- a. During a tornado warning, people in the main building should file orderly into the basement.
 - i. The stairway to the basement is located in the workshop.
 - ii. Any remaining people should take shelter in the lodge hallway or the inner most part of the building.
- b. People in the dorms should take shelter in the bathrooms or in the basement of the lodge if time permits.
- c. People in the field should take shelter in a low-lying area where there is minimal danger of falling trees.
- d. The adults or group leader should be the last one to take shelter and should count all students or group participants.

MEALS

A fully equipped kitchen and service for at least 100 individuals are available in the lodge kitchen. Most groups bring their own food and prepare their own meals. Some groups have participants bring a sack lunch for the first day to defray costs. Meals can also be catered; the MacKenzie Center staff can provide a list of local caterers for reference.

Dining Room Procedure:

Due to the variety of options available for the preparation and the serving of meals, the following guidelines are fairly general.

Meal Preparation:

- In purchasing food items please try to reduce packaging so very little has to be recycled or thrown away.
- If your group does their own cooking, an adult chaperone should be in charge of the cooking for each meal and the appropriate number of students should assist that person.
- It is suggested that the person or persons involved in meal preparation are not also responsible for instruction as the additional responsibility may cause conflicts.

Table Setting:

- Each table can comfortably seat about 7-8 people.
- There should be a helper assigned at each table to assist with each meal. Their duties will vary depending on your needs. This job should rotate so that everyone has a turn.
- Students helping with meals should be on hand to help about 15 minutes before mealtime. Keep this in mind when scheduling them to activity groups that end near a mealtime.

During Meals:

- It is our recommendation that your staff and chaperones should spread themselves among the campers and not isolate themselves at one table away from the rest of the groups. Remember you are a community working together.
- Students should remain seated during the meal unless they are the helper for that meal.
- It is advisable to have your campers come to the dining room as a group and leave as a group. You may also want them to assemble outside the main entrance.
- Some people have found it convenient to number the tables and allow group members in the food line in a random fashion to avoid long lines, or allow table groups that have shown good behavior to eat first.

After Meals:

- Each individual should return dirty dishes to the dish washing window.
 - Remember to compost and sort waste and recyclables appropriately.
- If the meal is served family style and no trays are available, have one person at each table responsible for clean-up.
- If the meal is served cafeteria style, have one person per table responsible for the extras on the table.

- In either style, helpers for each meal will see that litter and leftovers are thrown away, table tops are wiped off, the floor around the table is swept and the chairs are pushed in.
 - It is advisable to dismantle the tables and stack the chairs only after the last meal prior to departure.
- When full, empty the trash and recycling barrels and take to the appropriate dumpster in the parking lot.
 - Please place new bags in the cans.
- Empty the small compost bin into the larger outdoor bin. Add some “dry” ingredients to the outdoor compost bin with every bucket of food waste.
 - Dry ingredients (leaves, grass) can be found in the bin next to the outdoor compost.

Kitchen

The kitchen is set up to serve 120 people and laid out to accommodate several people to prepare a large number of meals. Groups are expected to leave the kitchen, dish room, custodial closet and surrounding area as clean as or cleaner than how they found it. Counters should be wiped off and floors swept. Trash and recycling barrels empty and all dishes and utensils returned to their proper storage location. There should be enough dish-washing soap, cleanser and cleaning equipment provided and left out for your use. If something is needed, or you find an appliance broken, please contact a MacKenzie staff member.

Groups using the kitchen need only to bring their food and necessary condiments. The MacKenzie Center kitchen also is equipped with the necessary large equipment for food service available for group use. Items include but not limited to: refrigerator, freezer, dishwasher, ovens, warming trays, toasters, coffee pots, microwave, silverware, cups, glasses, plates, trays, etc. Some cooks prefer to bring their own knives, left over containers, coffee filters, foil, plastic wrap, etc. Please inquire with MacKenzie Staff if your group is in need of specific equipment.

Please remember that all food, including condiments, need to be taken home with your group at your departure time.

Fire Extinguishers in the Kitchen: There are fire extinguishers in the kitchen. In addition to a portable extinguisher located on the large island, an automatic extinguisher system is in place in the hood fan above the stove. It is set off automatically when the heat from the stove/ovens from a fire melts the seal on the spray arms located over the grills....or it can be manually activated. In either case, it creates a BIG mess and should be activated only as a last resort. Exhaust fans MUST be used while cooking to prevent automatic set off.

Stove/Griddle/Oven: The lodge kitchen is equipped with a large commercial size gas stove with six burners, a griddle and a lower baking oven. The top six burner units are controlled by the six dials on the front of the stove. The oven is controlled by the two dials on the middle of the stove. Both dials must be set in order to operate the oven.

The griddle unit is operated by the two dials on the right front of the stove. The griddle on the stove top may be used for food preparation as appropriate; however do not use griddle for heating pots and pans. Please note that the griddle will feel warm even when in the off position, as the pilot lights create heat.

In addition, there are large black deck ovens. The ovens are controlled by a set of controls on the right hand side. The top deck ovens have a stone bottom and work well for pizza's, etc. The bottom large oven is best for roasting. Please note that these ovens take approximately 1 hour to pre-heat and the top ovens will remain hotter than the set temperature by about 50 degrees.

Dishwasher Instructions:

1. Close the dishwasher door. The drain will automatically close.
2. To fill, push the "on" switch at the lower right of the dishwasher.
 - a. You will hear the water beginning to fill the dishwasher.
3. When panel no longer says "fill" and hits 160 degrees, open the doors and insert dishes on the rack into the dishwasher. Gently close the door. The dishwasher will automatically wash and rinse the dishes.
4. When the panel no longer says "rinse", open the door, slide out the rack and insert another rack of dishes. This process can be repeated again and again for each meal time.
5. When you are done washing dishes, you must turn the yellow on/off switch to OFF.
6. Open the dishwasher doors and lift the drain lever manually (drain lever is located inside the dishwasher to the right and rear of the machine).
 - a. This should be done after every meal. Don't let water sit in the dishwasher for extended periods of time.
7. Lift out the strainers which are located inside and to the bottom of the dishwasher. These should be cleaned in the rinse sink.

CAUTION: the rinse temperature is over 180 degrees; do not open the door while dishwasher is in operation, as it will not turn off automatically. Watch out for hot steam when removing dish racks.

Washing the Dishes: Dishes should be received at the window to the left of the dish rinsing sink. Individuals depositing dirty dishes should first compost or deposit waste into the proper containers.

1. Prepare the dishwasher according to the instructions above.
2. For silverware, fill dishpan 2/3 full with water and add two squirts of the "silver power", dispenser located on the wall to the left of the dishwasher.
3. Place silverware in the dishpan as you receive it.
4. Have one person stack incoming dishes while another starts rinsing.
5. Rinse and wash larger items first (trays, bowls, plates, etc.)
6. Run dishes in washing racks through the dishwasher

7. After dishes and trays are done, rinse and wash glasses. They must be stacked upside down in the green glass rack and an empty rack placed over them to prohibit the glasses from flying around in the dishwasher.
8. Dump the silverware in to the sink and rinse with spray nozzle. Separate silverware pieces and stack head up in the plastic holder with the center post. Do not overcrowd. Place plastic holders in the dish washing racks and run through the dishwasher.
9. Wash any pots and pans that fit into the dishwasher.
10. Clean out drain strainer from the sink and empty foods scraps in onto the trash barrel and then clean.
 - i. The metal sink strainer can be washed in the dishwasher.
11. Turn OFF the dishwasher and drain water.
12. Pull out the food strainers (basket) in the dishwasher and clean.
13. Put away dishes and dry all surface areas of counters.

Warming table: The kitchen is equipped with one four compartment warming table. This appliance is used to keep cooked food hot prior to serving. It operates under a dry heat principle and NO WATER should be placed into the holding tanks. Hot food should be placed in appropriate serving pans, and placed into one of the four openings. The temperature for each opening is controlled by the dials on the front of the appliance. The warming table is for keeping food warm, not for cooking. Serving pans can be washed with the other pots and pans in the dishwasher. The warming table and its openings should be wiped clean after use. Upon departure, warming tables should be moved to sweep and mop behind.

Automatic Toaster: the kitchen is equipped with a traditional toaster and a large commercial toaster. The large commercial toaster needs to be plugged into a special outlet (220 volts) near the warming table. To operate the large toaster:

1. Plug in the toaster and place an empty tray behind the toaster.
2. Preheat by pressing “buns” button and setting the dial to “preheat” and wait 10 minutes.
3. Press “toast” button and set mark on the dial over the “R” in dark
4. Place bread in racks
5. Toast will slide out the back of the toaster when done. If toast is done on one side only, place toasted side down on the rack and run through again.
6. Unplug toaster before cleaning and let it cool.
7. Wipe toaster clean after use.

CAUTION: do not touch side and top of the toaster when in use...HOT!

Campfires:

The Mackenzie Center has two locations for group campfires; our indoor fireplace and outdoor campfire ring. Campfires are allowed only these designated areas.

The indoor fireplace, located in the lounge, is glass-screened of which the doors should remain closed at all times. Fires should be kept small on the steel grate and in the back of the hearth. The flue is locked OPEN.

The outdoor campfire area is located near the volleyball court, out the west door of the lodge. Groups must extinguish the fire with water and police the area for litter or strewn branches. If there is a high fire danger, fires will not be allowed outdoors.

General campfire expectations:

1. Enjoy the fire.
2. Please be conservative with the wood supply.
3. Fires should not be left unattended.
4. Fires should be extinguished properly.
5. MacKenzie Center does not supply marshmallow roasting sticks nor do we allow the breaking of branches off living trees for this use. Please bring your own marshmallow roasting sticks.
6. Campfire wood is provided by the MacKenzie Center and can be found next to the fireplace and outdoor campfire circle.
 - a. Please replenish this supply from the outdoor bin prior to your departure.

Last day check out/cleaning: The last day's stay at the MacKenzie Center can be chaotic. These reminders should help you organize your departure.

1. Pack belongings and clean dorms prior to 8am.
2. Dorms will be inspected by a MacKenzie Center staff member the morning of your departure and locked once the dorm has been declared clean.
3. Keep packed belongings in one place if they cannot be packed immediately into vehicles. Note: doorways cannot be blocked in case of emergency.
4. Clean and empty kitchen by 1pm
5. Do NOT schedule activities in cleaned areas – or you'll have to re-clean.
6. Schedule cleaning of main building one hour before your departure.
 - a. Inspection and release of the main building must be done last and before the group departs.

Cleaning Responsibilities: The Mackenzie Center experience requires performing a complete cleaning of the dorms and lodge. This goes hand-in-hand with encouraging and teaching students to become better stewards of our land and taking personal responsibility for their actions. Cleaning the dorms and the lodge should be promoted to your students as being part of the overall education experience while visiting the MacKenzie Center.

Cleaning can also be a fun team-building exercise. Kids enjoy competition and some groups have been very successful challenging the students to see which group can do the best job in their dorm section.

Reference sheets are posted in each dorm and copies are given to group leaders to ensure everyone is aware of cleaning supply locations and responsibilities. MacKenzie staff will use the same reference sheet during a walk-through inspection with your adults prior to group departure. You should allow ½ hour for cleaning dorms and 1 hour for cleaning the lodge. The entire process may take more or less time depending on weather conditions, the amount of snow/dirt/mud brought indoors, and the number of students and adults assigned. Please plan accordingly.

Your support and cooperation is sincerely appreciated. After your check out and departure MacKenzie Center staff sanitize and prep the space before the next guests arrive.

CLEANING CHECK LISTS ARE PROVIDED at the end of this guide for reference.
